To Whom It May Concern:

I own and founded the Worlds Global Source (WGS), a textile and apparel manufacturing company. WGS was created in 2004.

Prior to creating WGS I was a Vice President of Operations in two different multi-billion dollar apparel companies.

I have thus worked with many IT departments and staff. Without question Jason Israel is the best I have worked with over my career. Jason has not only a great understanding of various network and phone systems but he has the rare ability to understand an employee's requirements' and a corporations needs and tailor a proper solution to the challenges posed. He is able to do this with an understanding of capital budget offered.

I would highly recommend Jason to any company as he will quickly become an asset that helps the company and other employee's grow in value.
